Get the essence of Proactive Project Management

As a service to you who already have the book – and to you who consider to acquire the book.

For several years, and in parallel with his work for the Danish Project Management Association (IPMA Denmark) and the IPMA Certification Programme, Morten Fangel has been elaborating a book that compiles the mind-sets, the methods and tools that he has developed over decades as a trainer and consultant in project management. The result is a new book with the title Proactive Project Management.

To promote that the interested persons achieve a good outcome of utilising the book's 450 pages, you are invited to webinars, where Morten Fangel will present the essence of the book.

In total, the book is a tool for the reflecting project manager, who wants to be even more proactive – and who wishes to extract even more knowledge from other books and own experiences.

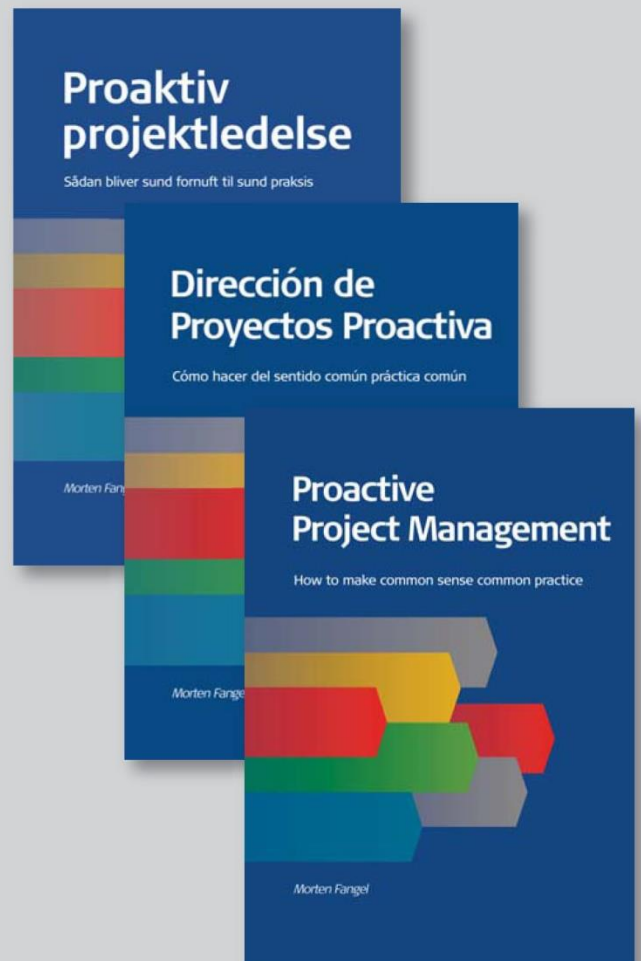

The book can be ordered for DKK 480 / € 65 excl. VAT at www.fangel.com.

As a final part of the webinar, the future Fangel Project Management Education will be introduced.

Registration for a webinar should take place at www.fangel.com no later than two days before the event.
